CLAIM SUBMITTED TO ARBITRATION

Amicable Agreement Reached Between Railroad Company and Contractors.

Lynchburg, Va., August 9.—An authoritative announcement was made here today that an amicable agreement has been reached between the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company and the contractors of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, who have been engaged in the construction of the new line from Lynchburg to Norfolk. The agreement was reached after a long and arduous struggle, and it is expected that the new line will be completed within a few months. The contractors have agreed to complete the line by the end of the year, and the railroad company has agreed to pay them the agreed-upon price. The new line will be a great benefit to the people of the region, as it will provide a direct route between Lynchburg and Norfolk, and it will also provide a route for the export of coal from the region.

JAPAN TO WAIT

London, August 9.—The Times, in a Tokyo message, reads: "It was learned authoritatively that Japan has not contemplated initiating any test case as soon as the California land law is put in operation. The intention of Japan is to wait until an occasion such as might be provided by a Japanese landowner's death or the dissolution of a Japanese company, when the act can be disputed on the basis of treaty rights solely." "There is no intention to appeal to the Hague or to lodge any request for naturalization rights, although negotiations may be inaugurated for a new agreement with Washington. Some popular ebullience of feeling may be expected on August 15, when the act becomes operative as the popular feeling that indignity has been suffered has become widespread. The responsible action of the people evidently realizes that there is a long road ahead, and considerable disappointment is manifested at the action of the United States Senate in blocking the arbitration treaty."

EUROPE AWAITING ROYAL MARRIAGE

Lively Interest Shown in Coming Nuptials of Prince Arthur and Duchess of Fife.

BOTH OF THEM POPULAR

Groom Is Cousin of King George and Bride His Niece.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] London, August 9.—All of Europe is always interested in a royal marriage. Whether the marriage is in Turkey, Germany, Austria or England, interest is always great, but particular interest for the Englishman attaches to the coming marriage of Prince Arthur of Connaught, son of the Duke of Connaught, and the Duchess of Fife, elder daughter of the princess royal and the late Duke of Fife. Prince Arthur is a first cousin of the King and the Duchess of Fife is His Majesty's niece. Englishmen have especially soft places in their hearts for both the beautiful Duchess of Connaught and the gallant young Prince of Connaught. The Duke of Fife, the Duchess's father, whose name was Sir Alexander Duff, married H. R. H. Princess Louise Victoria Alexandra Dugmar, daughter of King Edward. Following the marriage King Edward declared that his eldest daughter, who had thus become the Duchess of Fife, should be known as the princess royal, and that her daughters should have the title of princess. With the qualification of highness, and should rank next to all the members of the royal family bearing the style of royal highness. It was also provided that with the death of the duke, His Grace's eldest daughter should succeed to the title of duchess, her mother retaining the title of princess royal. Two daughters were born to the Duke and Duchess of Fife, the Princess Victoria and the Princess Maud Alexandra Victoria Georgiana Bertha, who was born April 3, 1893. The Princess Victoria was born May 17, 1891.

Prince Arthur Frederick Patrick Albert, K. G., C. C. V. O., is personal aide-de-camp to the King. He is captain of Second Dragoon Guards (Royal Scots Greys), and is captain of a la suite of the Third Prussian (Zeithen) Hussars. Among his decorations are the Royal Victorian Chain, and he is a Knight of Justice of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England. A Knight of the Prussian Order of the Black Eagle, he has the Grand Cross of the Spanish Order of Charles III, the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor of France, is a member of the Order of the Chrysanthemum of Japan, the Seraphim of Sweden and the Austrian Order of St. Stephen.

Naval men are still interestedly discussing the statement of Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, predicting the abolition in the near future of coal as fuel for warships and the substitution of oil. Lord Churchill also asserted that the time is not far distant when the government will own its own source of oil. In the opinion of Churchill, oil makes for much greater speed and for great saving of labor.

Great Britain is having its new super-dreadnought, the Queen Elizabeth, which is under construction at Portsmouth, and will be launched next autumn, built without bunkers for coal. The great vessel will burn nothing but oil, and will be the first super-dreadnought to use that substance as fuel. The oil will be carried in a strongly constructed bottom, so arranged that in event of running aground or collision with a rock, all of the fuel would not be lost. Here are Winston Churchill's chief points in favor of oil as fuel for battleships: "Vessels that burn only oil are much speedier than those that burn only coal or oil and coal."

"There is a great saving of the labor involved in stoking, and ships do not have to come into port for fuel."

"There are now 150 vessels burning oil and 100 destroyers built and building which will use only oil fuel."

"Coal will at present continue to be the main motive power in the line of battle."

"The power to maintain command of the sea in war time depends on our oil supply."

"There are oil beds in Lincolnshire and Dorset, and Scotland alone can yield 400,000 to 500,000 tons a year."

"The government's ultimate policy is for the admiralty to become the independent owner and producer of its own liquid fuel supply."

DOCTORS FIND DISEASE SOURCE

Typhoid Fever Said to Have Been Spread by Attendants at Asylum.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Williamsburg, Va., August 9.—Dr. Roy Williams, of the State Board of Health, who was sent here as an expert to locate the source of a typhoid contagion that spread among the attendants of the Eastern State Hospital, it is understood has rendered his report to Dr. G. W. Brown, the superintendent, locating the incidence of the disease with two young women attendants, whose families lived in town and whom they visited frequently. There were nine cases of typhoid among employees of the hospital, although this far not a single case of the malady has developed among citizens of the town, or people who live away from the hospital. All the employees who were suffering from typhoid are well or on the road to recovery, and no new cases have developed recently.

It is believed that all danger of an epidemic has passed, as no patients have been ill with the disease, the health of the institution being normal. However, no effort is being spared to remove any local source of contagion that may exist, and those having relatives at the hospital may rest assured that every precaution has been taken around the State's wards.

Circuit Court Judge D. G. Tyler presiding, who sent them here next Monday to a regular grand jury term, and a number of indictments probably will be returned, among them being Marion Lee, colored, for the murder of Delaware Brown, also colored. The jury will also inspect the commissioners' books and make report thereon.

MAY GRAFT NEW LIMBS ON HUMAN BEINGS

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] London, August 9.—"Within a month after my arrival in New York, I expect to be able to prove by actual demonstration, that it is possible to graft new limbs on human beings, to replace those lost."

The speaker was Dr. A. L. Sorel, of New York, the surgeon whose paper on the transposition of blood aroused great interest among members of the International Medical Congress.

According to a request for an interview for further details about the latest marvel in surgery, the doctor said:

"I have already made extensive grafting experiments with animals and with entire success. In fact, there are several dogs running around New York now with limbs they did not have when born."

Continuing, the doctor said: "I have not yet attempted to graft a limb on any human being, for the reason that my experimental work was only just satisfactorily concluded before leaving for London, but immediately on my return I shall start preparations for the first human test. I have already chosen men who are willing and anxious to submit themselves. Both are New Yorkers."

"Can you name them?"
"No, I don't think that I can. You see it is a professional matter, and patients might not like it. You may say, however, that one is a well-known New Yorker, while the other is quite unknown, being in humble circumstances."

Dr. Sorel added that the preparation for the operations may take place some time within a month.

"Both my patients need an arm, and obtaining suitable arms is not easy. I have not yet determined exactly how long life remains in an arm after death. Of course, you understand that the arm must come from some person who has just met a sudden death, either by accident or by electrocution. In my experiments with animals I have been able to transfer the limbs without loss of time, but such a proceeding, where human beings are concerned, is not so simple, except in cases of electrocution."

Dr. Sorel said that the results of his experiments would be announced through the Academy of Medicine.

The four men who will now face the charge in Criminal Court are John P. Abbott, David U. Williams, L. C. Neill and E. E. Van Landingham. The penalty in Alabama for second degree manslaughter in case of conviction is imprisonment for not more than twelve months, or a fine of not more than $500.
